Buswell Convicted Of Slaying Woman

Jury Recommends Man Be Spared Penalty of Death

San Francisco, June 2 (AP)—An all-male federal jury convicted Sgt. Lyle Buswell of the rape slaying of attractive W.A.F. Sgt. Fatty Becker, 44, but recommended that he be spared from the death penalty.

The verdict, after more than six hours deliberation last night, left some doubt whether the burly Rutland, Vt., soldier would escape death in the San Quentin penitentiary gas chamber.

Federal Judge Louis Goodman said he was puzzled at the wording of the verdict. After the jury was excused he expressed doubt as to the validity of the recommendations.

Specifically the jurors found the 33-year-old airman guilty of second degree murder, murder committed during rape, and rape. To the last two, the jurors added the phrase "without capital punishment."

The penalty for rape on a military reservation is death unless the government stipulates to a lesser punishment. The government had asked for the death penalty.

Buswell showed no emotion as the verdicts were read finding him guilty on each count, but as he was being led from the courtroom he was heard telling his attorney, James E. Burns:

"Well, you did everything you could."

Board Rules In Future on School Band

Appearance of This Unit or Orchestra in Any Outside Function Shall Be Reviewed

To Study Interests

Position of Union, Other Groups to Be Given Consideration

Future appearances of school band or orchestra in any given function, other than entirely school performances, will be determined by the Board of Education in accordance with a resolution unanimously adopted by the board Thursday evening.

Under the resolution offered by the rules committee, N. Jansen Fowler, chairman, the Board of Education "shall be the sole and final judge of whether or not a school band or orchestra shall participate," and before making a determination the board "should first receive the report or recommendation of the music department, principal or supervisor involved, and the superintendent of schools so that the board will have knowledge as to whether the appearance will interfere with the educational schedules and program of the school."

New Items Made Atom Gains Reported

Washington, June 2 (AP)—The United States has developed atomic artillery shells and atomic warheads for guided missiles, it was learned today.

News of these revolutionary weapons comes in the wake of Defense Secretary Johnson's report to President Truman on March 31 that this country is developing a variety of new atomic missiles which may have tactical as well as strategic significance.

"This means they can be used against troops in the field as well as against industrial targets."

Reports of the new weapons are giving Atlantic Pact military planners new confidence that western Europe can be made secure against possible aggression without bankrupting the United States and its allies.

Cornerstone Ceremony Is To Occur Soon

Work on the new Washington School on the former Sahler property in the eleventh ward has progressed to such an extent that consideration is being given to a cornerstone laying ceremony within the next two or three weeks.

Architect Harry Halverson has notified the Board of Education that the contractor will be in a position within the next two or three weeks to place the stone.

At a meeting of the Board Thursday evening the matter of a ceremony at the cornerstone laying was discussed and it was decided that an appropriate program should be arranged. No date was fixed at this time. The arrangements for observing this formality will be made by Superintendent Robert Herzog and Superintendent of School Arthur J. Laidlaw.

The Washington School is the first unit of a proposed long-range program of construction, designed to be carried out over a period of years, to place the Kingston school system on a par with other school systems of similar size cities so far as a physical property is concerned. The plan calls for replacement of the present antiquated school buildings, many of which are nearly 100 years old, under a plan which will not place a serious financial burden upon the taxpayers.

Mauna Loa Breaks Out After 18 Months

Honolulu, June 2 (AP)—Mauna Loa, 13,680-foot volcano on the island of Hawaii, erupted last night after 18 months of quiet.

Frank Oberhansley, Hawaii National Park superintendent, said "It was a spectacular show."

He said red hot lava broke out on the southwest flank of the volcano at about 9:00 p.m.

Hilo, the only sizable city on the island, lies to the east.

Harry Blackham, editor of the Hilo Tribune-Herald, said at Hilo the eruption started at 9:30 p.m. (3:30 a.m. E.D.T.), Friday.

Capt. G. B. Blackmore, pilot of a Pan-American stratosphere that flew over Mauna Loa at 10 p.m., said smoke columns towered to 20,000 feet.

The white-hot lava was clearly visible pouring out of the massive mountain, he said.

The red glow in the sky was visible from Diamond Head, 200 miles away on Oahu.

Records Show Two Reservoirs Full

Ashokan and Schoharie Supplies Are Cited as Plentiful

There's no water shortage at two area reservoirs, according to records at the Fair street office of the New York City Department of Water Supply, Gas and Electricity.

The Ashokan reservoir is 21 feet of a foot or two and a half inches from going over the spillway.

At the Schoharie reservoir, the water is within a foot from overflowing.

Official estimates are that there is a possibility of both reservoirs overflowing sometime this afternoon.

Thursday Rain Helps

Yesterday's heavy rainfall of .78 of an inch added considerably to the capacity of both reservoirs, and streams that feed them from the mountainous terrain are still flowing rapidly.

Aside from the natural rainfall that helped fill the Ashokan, the floodgates of the Schoharie reservoir were opened yesterday and about 280,000 gallons flowing into it.

The Ashokan supply line to the Kensico reservoir carried an abundant supply yesterday and today, running at the rate of 683,000 gallons every 24 hours, the heaviest flow ever recorded, according to figures at the board of water supply office.

Hanley Praises Smith

New York, June 2 (AP)—Lt. Gov. Joe R. Hanley says the late Alfred E. Smith made "an Al Smith Republican" out of him the first time they met. The Republican lieutenant governor said yesterday that the late Democratic governor provided "the right type of God-fearing American leadership in public life."

Hanley addressed 3,000 persons at the unveiling of a nine-foot bronze statue of Smith at a lower east side housing project named for him.

Recognition Is Ended

New York, June 2 (AP)—The left-wing teachers union has been denied further recognition by the City Board of Education. The board voted yesterday, 7 to 1, to end recognition of the 3,500-member Local 555, a unit of the United Public Workers (Ind.).

The parent U.P.W. had been expelled from the C.I.O. on the ground that it was Communist-dominated. The New York City school system employs about 40,000 teachers.

Senate Committee May Vote 6-Month Rent Control Law

Washington, June 2 (AP)—A poll of the Senate Banking Committee showed today that a bare majority of its members, seven out of 13, may vote to continue federal rent controls—and then for only six months.

The committee starts voting today (9:30 a.m. E.S.T.) on a number of proposals calling for extension of the federal ceilings.

One of these measures, backed by President Truman, calls for another full year of the controls. But an advance check of committee members indicated practically no chance that any such bill would get the group's support.

Of the seven senators agreeable to an extension beyond the end of this month—when present controls expire—four said they would go along with a provision calling for another six months of ceilings for those cities or states which specifically asked for them.

The other three favored the full year backed by the President but were expected to settle for six months as a compromise.

That would conform with a bill now due for a June 12 vote in the House.

Meantime, Housing Expediter Woods, whose agency administers the federal controls, was faced with the need for immediate action to prevent the firing of most of his workers. Woods has said his office will be broke June 6 unless Congress votes more money.

Views West As Far From Safe Enough

Congress Urged to Okay Billion Program for Fiscal Year; Gives No Hope of Cuts

Progress Is Hailed

Anti-Communist Lineup Has Gained in Many Ways, He Says

Washington, June 2 (AP)—Secretary of State Acheson told senators bluntly today that the United States may have to increase in years to come its annual outlay for foreign arms.

Testifying before the Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committees, Acheson said the western world is "a long way from having an adequate security force" to meet the threat of Communist aggression.

He urged Congress to approve a new $1,222,500,000 arms aid program for the fiscal year beginning July 1. Of that amount, $1,000,000,000 would go to bolster defenses of the North Atlantic Treaty countries.

The total amount asked is slightly lower than the $1,314,000,000 made available by Congress for the present fiscal year.

But Acheson refused to hold out hope that these expenditures can be progressively reduced.

In response to a question by Senator H. Alexander Smith (R-N.Y.), the secretary said an "honest answer" is that in the immediate future the United States might have to increase its aid to western Europe.

Without mentioning Russia by name, he said that unless another power revises its course of action, "we may have to put more, rather than less, effort into this program."

Acheson said the United States must continue its military assistance to western Europe in order to preserve the North Atlantic area from aggression.

Great Progress Seen

He said the western, anti-Communist coalition already has made great progress in economic and political cooperation and in defense preparations.

"But," the secretary said sharply, "if any one of us let down, or slacken our efforts, the result could well be disaster. Only by forceful, concerted action along the lines which have been initiated can the countries which practice democracy preserve democracy."

Acheson's prepared testimony was presented to a joint session of the Senate Foreign Relations and Armed Services Committees.

It followed by a day President Truman's message asking Congress for the new funds to keep flowing the $1,314,000,000 of American munitions already being sent abroad in this fiscal year. The new money would provide arms aid for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

Acheson reported to Congress members personally Wednesday on his recent diplomatic talks in London.

In his prepared testimony today Acheson said:

"That by unifying their separate strengths, the allies 'can preserve the peace by confronting a potential aggressor with conditions under which resort to war would be clearly disadvantageous.'"

The secretary said the "total task—economic and political as well as military—of coordinating the Atlantic allies is far from completed. But what has been accomplished so far is a good indication of what can be done in the future. Then he added:

"One the other hand, if any of us let down, or slacken our efforts, the result could well be disaster."

Urges Relaxations

Acheson also urged relaxations in the new arms law provisions compared with the present law.

Bus Routes Changed

Thomas J. Gould, general manager of the Kingston City Transportation Corp., today announced the changes in bus routes uptown during the reconstruction of two blocks on Fair street, scheduled to start Monday. Broadway buses will go up Wall street and back over Clinton avenue to Albany avenue and over the regular route, Jacobus street, down Clinton avenue to Main, over that street to Fair and then over the regular route.

Widow's Body Is Found; Nephew, 19, Held by Officials

Scarborough, Me., June 2 (AP)—The battered body of a well-to-do widow was found in a watery ditch early today after her 19-year-old nephew was taken into custody at gunpoint while driving her blood-stained car.

The body of Mrs. Viola Tully, 45, was discovered by police less than six hours after she was missed from her blood-spattered home in Melrose, Mass., nearly 150 miles from Scarborough.

Her nephew, William N. Elwell, of Brunswick, Me., was captured by police in Portland, Me., but denied he killed Mrs. Tully.

Portland Police Captain Douglas Steele said Elwell was booked on a charge of suspicion of a felony.

However, a warrant charging the youth with the murder of his aunt was issued in East Middlesex District Court in Malden, Mass., and was en route to Maine.

Capt. Steele quoted the husky, six-foot, two-inch youth as saying that he never got into his aunt's home and killed her while they were eating.

Then, Steele said Elwell told him, the men forced him to put the woman in the trunk of her car and drive to Maine. Elwell said the men dumped the body in a ditch, made him drive to Portland and then fled, according to Steele.

Steele said that Elwell's clothing was soaked with blood. Four $1 bills found in the youth's pocket also were stained.

Neighbors had called police after hearing piercing screams and then seeing Mrs. Tully's auto backed hurriedly out of the garage.

A blood-covered ice pick was found in the kitchen, but police could not establish immediately if it was the murder weapon.

Medical Examiner Dr. Joseph E. Porter said Mrs. Tully had suffered several wounds on the head from a sharp instrument.

Police reported Elwell was given a medical discharge from the Maine Corps a year ago. He had been visiting his aunt for the past three days.

Mrs. Tully lived in a nine-room, two and a half story home on Sewall Woods road in Melrose. Her husband, John H. Tully, died about a year ago.

Geis Back Her $10
Chicago, June 2 (AP)—Miss Gertrude Kress, owner of a woman's shop, got back her $10 from a young robber yesterday after she urged him to give up crime.

Miss Kress said after she asked the youth why he didn't change his ways, he said he once asked God why while he was in the army, "but he didn't come through." She assured him that if he tried to better himself, God would help him. The young man then handed her the money and walked out, saying: "You've changed my way of looking at life."

Brooklyn Man Held On Bad Check Charge

Joseph Jordan, 30, who gave his address as 1585 East 10th street, Brooklyn, was arrested there Thursday by state police and brought to Ulster county to face a second degree grand larceny charge.

The charge, contained in a warrant obtained by Wesley Van Vliet, operator of a gasoline service station at New Paltz, alleges that Jordan, alias Joseph DeChlorin, passed a worthless $300 check at the garage on October 7, 1949.

Jordan was ordered held in the Ulster county jail in lieu of $500 bail for hearing Saturday before Justice of the Peace Irving C. Barnes of New Paltz.

Two Are Burned In Slight Fire

John Coffey, 22 Coffey Place, of Edward D. Coffey Sons, plumbing and heating contractors, suffered burns of the hands and William Mellert, 190 Hurley avenue, was burned on the right hand during a slight fire at 26 Lucas avenue today.

Coffey was treated at the Benedictine Hospital and Mellert, who suffered less serious burns, was treated by a doctor.

Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy said the two men were burned in attempts to quench a fire which burned paper wrappings over insulation in the cellar of the house owned by Mrs. Lenora Styles.

The two men were working in the cellar when the paper wrapped around ceiling insulation caught fire, the chief said. The engine and truck from Wiltwyck station responded to the alarm at 11:22 a. m. The fire was confined to a small area and damage was slight.

Says It's Mistake
Cincinnati, June 2 (AP)—In the opinion of a common pleas judge, it's a mistake for any man to turn over his entire pay check to his wife. Judge Charles S. Bell, a former member of the Ohio Supreme Court, said so yesterday when he granted John Isamel, 52, a divorce decree for neglect. Isamel said he and Isidel Isamel, 51, were married in 1919 and until last August he had turned over his entire pay check to his wife.

McCarthy Ignores Blast by Senator

Washington, June 2 (AP)—Senator McCarthy sidestepped the criticism of a group of Republican colleagues and made ready to fire a new Communist-in-government blast today.

The Wisconsin legislator told reporters the new attack would come in a Senate speech which he said would ignore charges leveled by G.O.P. Senator Margaret Chase Smith of Maine against certain elements of the Republican party. It was clear she was talking about McCarthy, for one.

McCarthy declined in advance to discuss his speech in detail. It was understood, however, that he intended to renew his criticism of the Democratic controlled Senate committee investigating his charges there and a lot of Communists and fellow travelers in the State Department.

Mrs. Smith addressed the Senate yesterday just before leaving for Italy to serve as a delegate to a United Nations Educational, Social and Cultural Organization (UNESCO) conference in Florence. She blasted both Republican and the Truman administration.

The Senate's only woman member told her colleagues it is time to call a halt to what she termed "character assassination sheltered by the shield of congressional immunity."

Some of those McCarthy has accused of pro-Communist activities have challenged him to repeat off the Senate floor the charges he made against them while protected by his immunity against libel action.

Mrs. Smith read what she called a "declaration of conscience" and said it has the backing of Republican Senators Tobey (N.H.), Alben (Vt.), Morse (Ore.), Lee (N.Y.), Flye (Minn.) and Hennrichson (N.J.).

Award Is Affirmed

Albany, N. Y., June 2 (AP)—The Court of Appeals today affirmed a $19,750 award to a former state trooper for injuries from electrical shock he suffered while directing traffic near Averill Park two and a half years ago. The verdict for Thomas J. Russell of Catskill, who has resigned from the state police, was against the New York State Electric and Gas Corp. Russell said in his suit that he suffered the shock Nov. 8, 1947, during a wind and rain storm that broke several live wires along the Averill Park-Burdett Lake road. Russell said he was directing traffic around the fallen wires when an automobile became entangled in the wires. Russell said he received the shock as he touched the car door handle in an attempt to shut off the motor.

Gives 10 Minutes, Death
Dell Rapids, S. D., June 2 (AP)—"You've got 10 minutes to live," a Dell Rapids man told his sister-in-law last night, then shot her to death as her husband and sister watched helplessly. The dead woman was Mrs. Henry Peters, 35, who lived on a farm two miles southeast of Dell Rapids. Sheriff Barney Boos said she was slain by Martin Allen Merkle, 25. Merkle was taken to the city jail on a murder charge. After the shooting, Merkle came to town, saying he wanted a drink. He was arrested in a poolroom. The sheriff said Merkle wounded two men in a poolroom before he was overpowered.

Gold Bars Are Stolen
Timmons, Ont., June 2 (AP)—Three gold bars worth $75,000 were stolen during the night from the Delnide mine five miles south-east of Timmons. The valuation came from provincial police who broadcast a general alarm on their short-wave radio network. A provincial police said the robbery was reported by J. J. Mangin, office manager at the mine. Mangin found at 7:30 a. m. that a vault at the mine had been entered and a small safe containing the three bars removed. Mining men said if the stolen gold were sold on the free market it would command a much higher price.

306 Paid Members Reported by C.C.
A total of 306 paid memberships was reported at the first report meeting of the Kingston Chamber of Commerce membership meeting Thursday night.

In addition to the memberships already paid, there were 38 definite commitments received and 36 active memberships (that do not expire until the coming fall or winter. This accounts for 380 memberships, leaving only 91 currently active memberships not renewed for 1950-51, according to President Robert E. Teetsel.

Teetsel said that the prospects of reaching the goal of 500 paid members are "very bright." To date, 28 new memberships have been received during this campaign, bringing the total of new memberships for this year to 64.

Middletown Youth Injured in Collision

Robert Mitchell, 17, of 46 Commonwealth avenue, Middletown, was treated at Kingston Hospital Thursday afternoon for a laceration to the face which state police said was sustained in a three-vehicle collision on Route 209 one mile south of Kingston.

Troopers said Mitchell was a passenger in an automobile operated by John D. Norman, 18, of R. D. 4, Middletown. The automobile crashed into a vehicle owned by the Universal Road Machinery Company of Kingston and driven by James Locke, 42, of 9 Delta Place, which was stopped behind an Eagle bus driven by Robert Hornbeck, 25, of High Falls, according to the state police report.

All vehicles were headed north and the force of the impact sent the Universal vehicle into the rear of the bus. Norman told troopers he was unable to stop when the car skidded on the wet pavement. No arrests were made.

Late Bulletins

Honolulu, June 2 (AP)—At least two persons are missing and 15 homes destroyed in the eruption of Mauna Loa volcano which poured a river of red-hot lava 20 miles to the ocean, Kona, Hawaii, police said today.

The massive volcano erupted last night, driving 60 families from their homes on southwest Hawaii Island.

Police Sgt. Henry Kunitomo said Mr. and Mrs. L. P. Lincoln, a retired couple in their 70s, are missing.

He said the molten lava streams poured into several season villas and destroyed "about 15 homes and one Catholic church."

A schoolhouse also was reported demolished but this was unconfirmed.

Kunitomo said the area damaged was on the northern side of the lava flow, which he said was one mile wide.

Communications with the southern part have been cut, he added, and the damage there is not known.

The Civil Air Patrol said the stream of molten rock poured into the ocean near Honanau village on the southwest coast of Hawaii Island. It said a second flow was only three miles from the sea.

Construction Opposed
Troy, N. Y., June 2 (AP)—The Troy Common Council opposes construction of a dam on the Hudson river to provide water for New York city. The council expressed its stand in a resolution adopted last night. A site near Haverstraw has been proposed for the dam. Ralph G. Champagne, city engineer of Troy, said the barrier would raise the river level at Troy and produce a flood threat.

Financial and Commercial

New York, June 2 (AP)—The stock market poked along cautiously today, showing only minor price variations.

Losses outnumbered gains by a slim margin but there was no decisive trend. Changes were mostly in small fractions.

Business was sluggish. The Stock Exchange will be closed tomorrow for the usual summer recess and traders normally approach a long week-end with considerable care.

A handful of shares showed independent firmness, among them U. S. Steel, Chrysler, Woolworth, and Anderson Clayton, all up fractionally.

Rails, with several exceptions, were inclined to hang back, a fact which troubles a good many market students who would like to see carrier stocks catch up with other key groups.

On the losing side were N. Y. Central, Pennsylvania R. R., Chesapeake & Ohio, Southern Pacific, Republic Steel, Douglas Aircraft, Lockheed, Emerson Radio, American Telephone, American Dynamite, American Woolen, Ennsall Oil, and United Air Lines.

Officials Expect Manhattan Tax Rise on Property

New York, June 2 (AP)—Officials expect New York city's basic real estate tax rate to rise 20 cents from $2.89 to a record-high $3.09 per $100 of assessed valuation.

The rise was indicated yesterday as the city's taxable property and franchises were valued at $18,396,134,375.

This valuation, for the fiscal year starting July 1, is $293,907,116 above that for the 1949-50 fiscal year.

In addition to the expected $3.09 real estate tax rate, there will be borough increases for improvements.

Tax rates will not be determined until Comptroller Lazarus Joseph reports on June 15.

Among major real estate holdings valued were Macy's at $23,500,000, Radio City at $103,400,000, Tudor City at $18,682,500, Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. at a total of $23,000,000 for its Madison avenue home office and its Fourth avenue annex, and the Waldorf Astoria Hotel at $26,000,000.

Assessed valuation by boroughs was: Manhattan, $8,291,241,300; Bronx, $2,300,897,108; Brooklyn, $4,239,910,858; Queens, $3,216,641,025; and Richmond (State Island), $347,447,084.

Acheson Says . . .

The change would allow the President to sell arms to a friendly nation anywhere in the world when he considered it necessary and also to let him have power to divert funds from the aid program to bolster any country threatened by Communist aggression.

He stressed the importance of continued aid to Greece and Turkey for which the administration is asking $120,000,000 and also the importance of supporting Iran, the Philippines and Korea with military assistance to a total of $27,500,000.

Acheson said the opportunities for the United States to take effective action in fighting communism in the Far East are limited but he noted some bright spots in the Far East for the anti-Communist world.

He said "the seeds of democracy have been well sown in Japan and a democratic government has been established in south Korea." He also cited "the democratic principles" of the Philippines government.

In the case of such governments as Indo-China, Burma, Thailand, Malaya and the United States of Indonesia, Acheson said that Congress should again provide $75,000,000 for use in fighting communism in "the general area of China."

Public Safety Director David Reid refused to tell the reasons for the exhumation. He did not say when the action was taken, but it was learned the body was removed from Holy Cross Cemetery shortly before dawn today.

"Nobody is going to kill Santa Claus," Willoughby said. He disclosed an "execrable" Japanese policeman had informed occupation headquarters that police had arrested a Japanese who "apparently was a parasite" and man who thinks the world is against him.

Board Rules . . .

Martin and Mosses, Stine, Morre and Berchin of the Music Department.

The facts and circumstances leading up to the exclusion of the band from the parade were stated and the views of various interested parties and groups were considered. It appears that the band was requested to participate in Apple Blossom parade, and that it was assumed, by virtue of informal conversations, that there would be no objection to such participation, from either the Board of Education or the Local Musicians' Union. On Friday, May 5th, the day before the parade, the director of the band was advised by an officer of the Union, that the participation by the High School Band in the parade would be a violation of an agreement entered into between the New York State School Music Association and the New York State Conference of Musicians, and that Union permission could not therefore be granted.

Superintendent Laddlaw and President Heitz of the Board of Education were out of town at the time of the receipt of the communication and the band left for Hudson for a scholastic competition on Friday shortly following the receipt of this communication, and the members of the band were therefore informed that they would not participate in the parade the following day.

Feels Incident Is Fair
The committee feels that the incident is past and that the only purpose served by a review thereof, is to show the necessity to formulate a policy as to the future, which will clearly define the position of the Board of Education, in the hope that further misunderstandings and incidents may be avoided.

Kingston High School and members of the Music Department, individually, are members of the New York State School Music Association. The agreement of January 1, 1948, between the New York State School Music Association, and the New York State Conference of Musicians referred to by the Union, and which is entitled "Code of Ethics" has been read and reviewed by the Committee. There has also been read and reviewed an agreement defining the jurisdiction of the professional musicians and school musicians, entitled "The Music Code of Ethics," being a Code entered into on September 22, 1947, by and between the American Federation of Musicians, The Music Educators National Conference and American Association of School Administrators. Superintendent Laddlaw is a member of the American Association of School Administrators. Although the two codes referred to differ in several important respects, the basic purpose of each is the same, namely, to define the jurisdiction of the professional musician and school musicians. The codes reflect the cumulative experience of other communities in similar situations.

Union Has Helped In Past
The interests and place of the professional musician in the civic and social life in our community cannot be denied. Professional organizations, and musicians should and do provide inspiration, stimulation and an example to school orchestras and bands. The local Musicians' Union have voluntarily undertaken numerous projects and performed many civic services for the benefit of the community in the past years.

The Board of Education is charged with the education and welfare of its students and that is its primary interest. In the discharge of that responsibility, the board should not be subject to pressure or veto by segments or groups of the community acting for their self-interest, but only answerable to the public at large in the execution of its responsibilities. It is for this reason that the committee recommends that the Board of Education adopt a definite policy in regard to performance by school bands and orchestras. In furtherance of that recommendation, the committee recommends the adoption of the following resolution:

"RESOLVED, that the Board of Education of the City of Kingston adopt and hereby does adopt the following policy as to the participation of school bands and orchestras in community and civic functions:

"1. That the primary interest of the Board of Education is the education and welfare of its students.

"2. That the Board of Education shall be the sole and final judge of whether or not a school band or orchestra shall participate in any given function, and formal approval of the Board of Education shall be given before any such musical unit shall participate or engage in any function which is not wholly and entirely a school performance.

"3. That before making a determination on any request for participation, the board should first receive the report or recommendation of the Music Department, Principal or Supervisor involved, and the Superintendent of Schools, so that the board may be assured in making its decision that the request will conform to and not interfere with the educational schedules and program of the school.

"4. That before giving its approval, the Board of Education shall consider the interests, position and effect upon outside groups, including the professional musician and the local union of professional musicians, as well as the value of such participation to the school and the community.

"5. The Music Code of Ethics adopted and participated in by the American Association of School Administrators, Music Educators National Conference and the American Federation of Musicians and a Code of Ethics adopted by the New York State School Music Association and New York State Conference of Musicians shall be considered advisory in nature, but not necessarily binding, on any question presented to the board for its consideration and action."

Goes Down to Defeat
Havana, Cuba, June 2 (AP)—Antonio Prió Socarras, brother of Cuba's president, went down to defeat yesterday in the race for mayor of Havana. Prió Socarras was beaten by Nicholas Castellan, incumbent mayor. The Havana result was a sharp defeat for the National administration. President Carlos Prió Socarras claimed overall victory, however, in nationwide parliamentary and municipal election contests. Sixty-six of the 136 seats in the Lower House of Parliament were at stake in the elections.

Lucky for Deer
Tupper Lake, N. Y., June 2 (AP)—It's lucky for one deer that this isn't the hunting season. Members of the Tupper Lake Rod and Gun Club were in the midst of their annual turkey shoot when a deer wandered out of the woods, stood in front of the targets and eyed the marksmen. The men held their fire until the deer stroled back into the forest.

Avis on Zoning Board
Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk today announced the appointment of Attorney Joseph Ayik, 152 St. James street, as a member of the zoning board. The appointment fills the unexpired term of Richard Kalish, 73 Highland avenue, who was recently appointed to the board of education. The term is due to expire August 21, 1952.

State Credit Reported
A report of an examination of the accounts and fiscal affairs of the Board of Education, made by the State Department of Audit and Control for the period beginning July 1, 1947 and ending June 30, 1949, was received. The report is now on file at the office of the board where it is available for inspection. The report was referred to the special problems committee for study and a report will be made at a future meeting by that committee.

John W. Hicks, 131 Abel street, was appointed a member of the custodial staff in the school system at a salary of $2,000. He was named on the eligible list for janitors.

The matter of using a room in No. 3 School for election purposes was again brought up. It was reported that use on registration days and on election day interfered with the school activities in that it was necessary to move out the class, during the days the room was used for election purposes. This matter has been before the board before but no action taken. The matter was referred to the building committee for study.

Plans for construction of a roadway and the erection of a wall along the vocational school area was submitted. An estimate of $25,000 was presented. This work would give some 30 feet additional playground area on the upper level by erection of an 18 foot wall in addition to paving the roadway. The wall was considered and it was the expressed opinion that some type of landscaping and a fence along the cliff probably would suffice in view of the high cost of the proposed wall. The board authorized the city engineer to proceed with completed plans for the roadway and drainage gutter. The wall proposal was held up.

Discontinues Center
The board voted to discontinue the canning center which was established as a war measure under the Adult Education program. The center has been located in the former city home building in this city. The board voted to discontinue the center because of strict requirements which are necessary in order to comply with the Adult Education program if it is to be received for the project.

Notice of the new requirements were received some time ago and a study has been made of the proposition by the Building Committee. In order to get state aid under the Adult Education program classes must be held. An average of eight must attend each session of the class for 40-minute sessions and the program of study must be set up. The board has found it impossible to comply with the requirements and the canning center project will be abandoned.

The terms and conditions under which the scholarships are awarded were made a part of the minutes of the board.

The president and clerk were authorized to issue warrants in payment of the payrolls amounting to $82,887.30; general vouchers amounting to $45,275.71; Veteran on Farm Training payroll and vouchers amounting to $777.05, all for the month of May.

Haskins & Sells, certified public accountants, were engaged to assist in closing the books for the current year and audit the principal accounts and extra classroom and internal school funds. This is done each year.

Will Dedicate Statues in Park
The statues of Peter Stuyvesant, Hendrick Hudson and George Clinton, presented to the city by Mrs. E. Crane Chadbourne, of Stone Ridge, will be officially dedicated June 9 at 7:30 p. m., it was announced today.

The statues were installed in Academy Park on a specially designed pedestal opposite the Governor Clinton Hotel several weeks ago.

They will be presented by Mrs. Chadbourne and received for the city by Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk at the ceremony for which the full program will be announced later.

Norbert Heermann, Woodstock artist, will deliver the dedicatory address.

The plan for placing the statues in the park was designed by Alfred Geiffert, of New York, who is known for his work on the setting of the National Gallery at Washington, D. C., and for several outstanding landscaping projects in New York city.

It is planned to have the Kingston High School band for the occasion, and several prominent residents of the county are expected to be present for the program.

Mrs. George V. D. Hutton is in charge of the program.

Another False Alarm
Another false alarm was sounded at 9:45 p. m. yesterday from a box at Albany and Manor avenues. Two were pulled from boxes in the uptown area early yesterday morning.

EASIER TO PAY FOR COLD WAR

Can we afford the cold war?

A lot of people say we can't, that the Marshall Plan, heavy defense outlays, help to the Far East and Point Four aid to backward lands are just too much to bear.

Paul Hoffman, able head of the Economic Cooperation Administration, has a different answer. He says we can't afford not to fight the cold war.

In a recent Washington speech packed with solid sense, Hoffman laid the issue out plainly. As they emerge from his comment, the choices before us are these: to knuckle under to Russia, to reach a fair agreement with her, to continue the cold war or to undertake a shooting war.

Of the first prospect, Hoffman probably voices the general U. S. view when he says Russia has a "perfectly stinking" system that men won't live under if they can somehow escape it.

And Hoffman seems to share the widespread official pessimism in America over chances of a sound agreement with the Kremlin. He stresses that Russia decided to fight the cold war even while World War II still raged and she was our comrade in arms. He sees Soviet leaders thoroughly committed to the idea that communism and capitalism must battle until one or the other goes down.

Hoffman is at his most forceful in pointing out that continuing the cold war is preferable by far to the one remaining alternative—shooting war.

"Shooting war is the ultimate stupidity," he declares. "This time we have got to win a victory with these new cold war techniques. And we will win it."

The cold war is expensive, yes. The four-year cost of the Marshall Plan will hit close to $15,000,000,000. Defense outlays for ourselves and our allies are running around $13,000,000,000 to $15,000,000,000 a year. Add to this the mounting aid to other lands.

But what of a hot war's cost? Hoffman quotes former Secretary of the Army Gordon Gray as estimating the final cost of World War II—when the last pension is paid—at one trillion, three hundred billion dollars. Another war almost inevitably would cost much more.

Hoffman believes we could extend the Marshall Plan to Asia and perhaps Africa for a cost that would cost to less in a year than a hot war would cost in a week.

"What are people talking about when they say we can't afford this $15,000,000,000, this $20,000,000,000?" he asks.

The economy-minded will be hard put to make sensible reply. For the fact is that, grim as it is, the cold war is the most cheerful prospect we can contemplate until Russian communism somehow crumbles under the weight of a determined free world.

MAD INVENTION

"The man is mad." This comment is still to be found on the margin of a document in the British War Office archives. The project which aroused this criticism was a proposal to build tanks for use in war. The date was 1912, ample time for England to have started working on the new device and to have got it in good running order before World War I started. But the War Office approached it with a strong prejudice against anything new. Anything so very novel as a tank would be sure to receive its condemnation.

The man whose labor of love received this unflattering reply, Lancelot De Mole, has just died in Australia. He did finally get recognition as the inventor of the tank, and received the Order of the British Empire for his ingenuity. He got no money, however; while two later inventors got 15,000 pounds.

Such is justice in a human world, especially when strongly institutionalized. Let us hope that De Mole did not take his slights too much to heart. Having had ample opportunity to view the destruction and death-dealing which the tank helped to make possible, some may now be ready to agree with the British War Office critic of

CONSCRIPTION

The National Council Against Conscription is conducting a campaign to influence Congress to oppose conscription in peacetime. They quote Congressman Lane of Massachusetts to the effect that the conscription law points a dagger at every mother's heart.

This is only partly true, for there are many daggers pointed at mothers' hearts these days, and if conscription is one, the ever-present danger of war is even a more horrible and vicious one.

The National Council Against Conscription asks: "Why then does the army want to continue to register and classify all boys of draft age? The simple answer is that the army wants to make every family aware of the military claim on its boys. They are potentially in the army in peacetime as well as in wartime."

This is so true. Yet let us put it another way. Since 1945, an astonishing number of countries have been conquered, so that in 1950, the conquering power holds a population of 800,000,000. As of today's date, three more countries are in danger of immediate conquest—Germany, French Indo-China and the Philippines.

What is the responsibility of our government in the face of this ever-present and immediate danger? If we quarrel with the State Department, it is because of a feeling that they gambled on peace and lost. There is no peace anywhere in the world today.

Therefore, our government has no alternative but to prepare for the defense of its people, their way of life, and their territory. We can be as craven as the present government of Czechoslovakia which caved in. Or shall we appease the conqueror until he has us without the effort of conquest, or shall we be ready to meet him on any field at any time?

A government has to decide on that question immediately. There can be no waiting until we are attacked, for obviously in the mechanics of the new warfare there is no waiting time on either side.

The dilemma is one of the most unpleasant in history. For the alternatives are so few. I know that there are intelligent, educated people who feel that the so-called warmongers, as they call those who are pushing preparedness, are wrong in their calculations. Maybe that is correct, but the danger of error on the part of the pacifists is greater than error on the part of warmongers. If we prepare but have no war, the loss is not as great as it can be if we are unprepared and suffer defeat.

If my fears of Russia, for instance, should prove unfounded, it would be a blessing to all mankind. But should my conclusion that Russia seeks to conquer this country prove to be correct—and we are not ready—it could prove a major if not final catastrophe.

Dean Acheson, our secretary of state, is, on the whole, a peaceful man given to appeasement. Yet he has been driven by the course of events into the position of a warmonger. President Truman hates war. He has certainly done nothing to stir his country to war with any people. Yet he is obviously wearying of the progress that our enemy is making the world over.

Our State Department pursued a China policy after the Yalta Conference to please Russia, but they never expected the consequences that came from their policy, because they believed in the integrity of Soviet Russia—a nation which has not lived up to a single agreement or treaty composed between us.

Therefore, it is not a matter of choice. This country, for better or worse, is being forced into a militaristic position by the course of events. We are much as Japan was between 1905 and 1931. Most Japanese hated war and they despised their own militarists, but it was as clear to them, as the events eventually proved, that Russia would seek to take Manchuria, and that country, once conquered, would impel the whole of eastern Asia. They had to desert the progress of their land to concentrate on defense. I recall conversing with top leaders of Japan as far back as 1923 who realized then the historical desperation of their situation.

We need to think our problems out now if we are to survive. And we need to think straight, for the enemy will take advantage of our every error. (Copyright, 1950, King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

VALUE OF GOOD POSTURE

Good posture, erect carriage helps us all both physically and mentally, and it can be obtained by remembering a few simple rules.

From the physical standpoint, proper carriage gives the lungs plenty of room to expand, thus enabling them to draw in sufficient pure air, and what is more important, keeps the out impure air. Having the shoulders well back, rather than slumped forward, prevents any crowding or pressure on the heart. The heart can thus pump more blood, carrying nourishment, freely to all parts of the body and bring wastes back from every cell throughout the system. This returning blood is sent to the lungs to be purified by the fresh air drawn in. The erect position causes a drawing in (or backwards) of the abdominal muscles. The strong natural support afforded by these muscles holds the organs of the abdomen up in their proper position, thus aiding digestion and helping to prevent constipation.

From the mental or emotional standpoint, erect carriage gives us an air of confidence and ability which is felt not only by one's self but by the people one meets. Both men and women look better groomed and smarter when sitting, standing or walking correctly. Slumped shoulders and a protruding abdomen can ruin the appearance of the most expertly tailored suit or dress.

Side-sloping, or mirror in a natural position, that is, without thinking of your appearance or carriage, and then take a look at yourself. You will likely be shocked—chin forward, abdomen protruding, shoulders forward. Follow these suggestions: 1. Stand, sit and walk tall. 2. Keep chin in. 3. Draw abdomen in, trying to pull it backwards and upwards. This will raise your shoulders and pull them back.

Two simple exercises which will strengthen the abdominal muscles, the basis of good posture, are: 1. Try to touch your knees with your knees straight, 10 times increasing to 20 times. Don't bend knees even if you can't reach toes at first. 2. Lie on back, raise both legs with knees straight, to a right angle with body 6 times, gradually increasing to 12 times. If this is difficult at first raise only one leg at a time, knees straight.

Constipation

It has been estimated that there are more persons with constipation than there are without it. For information on this subject send today for Dr. Barton's booklet entitled "Constipation." Step Right In, Sir!

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson is not only a good national defense economist, a good political money-raiser, but good at passing out juicy plums to his friends.

One of the juiciest, but little-noticed plums in government is the giant German corporation, General Aniline and Film, seized by the United States during the war, and now operated by the Justice Department, supposedly for the benefit of all the taxpayers. Thanks to Louey's adroit wire-pulling, however, it is being operated also for the benefit of some of Louey's friends.

First Louey has contrived to have his law firm succeed him as counsel for the German corporation, and they received a total of $64,500 last year. It should be noted that Louey's firm, Steptoe and Johnson, is one of the best in the east and does a highly competent job.

It should also be noted that before Louey became secretary of defense, and while he, himself, was counsel for General Aniline, he used it as a sort of roosting ground for friends. Several of them kicked into the Truman kitty when Louey was collecting money during the 1948 campaign.

Dye Exports? Meanwhile, General Aniline's profits have dropped. Net earnings after taxes dropped from $8,604,919 or $11.74 a share in 1948 to $2,924,810 or $3.99 a share in 1949. Maybe politics was the reason.

Anyway, here are some of the men who run one of the biggest German companies in the world, now owned by Uncle Sam: Jack Frye—President and chairman of the board; salary, $72,000; contribution to the Democratic party $750; ousted from Trans World Airlines, he was given the General Aniline job at the urging of Bob Hannegan.

Donald O. Lincoln—Director and counsel; one of Johnson's law partners; gets $100 for each monthly meeting; contributed $1,000 to Democrats.

Richard C. Patterson—U. S. ambassador to Guatemala; contributed $500; is part of the Floyd Odlum public utility hook-up which is so close to Johnson.

Morton Downey—Singer and entertainer for Coca-Cola; delightful personality, but not skilled as a corporation director; sang at parties for David Bazelon when he handled General Aniline as property director. Bazelon later, copped one of the choicest judicial plums in Washington—the Court of Appeals—though he had scarcely argued a case in court.

Colvin Brown—Publisher of the Motion Picture Daily and friend of ex-Postmaster General Frank Walker; another delightful personality, but no chemical expert.

William J. Mahoney—San Francisco attorney and Democratic bigwig; gave $5,000 to Democrats.

Other directors include: John S. Bugas, Ford Motor Company; T. Colburn Davis, Missouri Pacific Railroad; Horace C. Flanagan, New York banker; Robert Heller, industrial engineer; Harold Church Paul, Rhode Island banker; Seton Porter, National Distillers Products Co.; James A. Purse, Jr., Dallas furniture manufacturer.

Note—Two directors have experience in the chemical industry—Fred Hoffman, Rhodes of Cornell University; and Cary P. Wagner, General Aniline's vice president in charge of operations.

Servants of Brotherhood

The powerful House Ways and Means committee, burdened with tax headaches and besieged by lobbyists, has placed the welfare of a sick Negro ahead of the wealthy pressure groups.

The Negro is Hughson Greene, former committee messenger who became incurably sick last July. When news of his illness reached the committee, Congressman Mills of Arkansas, a southerner, offered a motion behind closed door to keep Greene on the payroll. This enabled the bedridden Negro to continue drawing his regular salary for nearly four months. Finally, when the committee was forced to hire a new messenger, kindly Chairman Doughton of North Carolina, another southerner, appointed a subcommittee to take care of Greene. Congressman Cooper of Tennessee, Reed of New York and Woodruff of Michigan were named, and they have taken up a private collection, which they still send to Freedmen's Hospital to supply their former messenger with medicine and help. Note—The congressman sought no publicity about their act of generosity, and this columnist discovered it only by accident.

Two Wisconsin Senators
Genial Sen. Alex Wiley of Wisconsin has had a change of heart regarding the McCarthy investigation.

In one newsletter to constituents, Wiley announced: "Quit trying to smear Senator McCarthy and start furnishing him and the rest of us with facts about subversive individuals employed in government."

Two weeks later, after the full reaction to the McCarthy charges had reached Wiley, the senator wrote: "None of us... should attempt to jump to hasty conclusions about particular individuals without awaiting the filing of all the evidence on both sides of specific cases."

Under the Dome

National labor leaders are letting that the California A.F. of L. will not follow teamster Dave Beck's out-of-state wire-pulling regarding the race for attorney general.

Most A.F.L. votes are expected to go to San Francisco's District Attorney Pat Brown, even though both Beck and the A.F.L. convention plumped for Fred Howser.... Chairman Vinson of the House Armed Services Committee will try to curb the powers of the secretary of the air force, who now has fewer legislative restrictions than the secretaries of the army and navy....

Harlem's Congressman Adam Powell, who has one of the worst attendance records in Congress, now boycotts the House Labor Committee because of its passage of a watered-down F.E.P.C. bill.... President Truman plans to appoint Florida's Senator Pepper to a top government job early next year.... When Collier's Magazine headlined the life of Mobile's Congressman Frank Boykin, they considerably omitted the fact that he was convicted in 1923 for conspiracy to violate the Volstead Act....

The politics are still wondering how Mayor O'Dwyer let himself in for the appointment of Ex-Congressman David Potts, Republican, to the New York Civil Service Commission. Potts has voted against almost everything O'Dwyer stood for. Shortly before he was to take the oath of office, O'Dwyer changed his mind.

Today in Washington

'Whitewash' in Amerasia Case Is Developing
Odor; 'Red Faces' Predicted by Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, June 2—There's something very smelly about the latest "whitewash" developing in the investigation of the so-called "Amerasia" case.

An important news source outside of Congress today made the following comment to this correspondent: "The documents did carry important military information and when the truth is known, somebody's face is going to be red—and it isn't going to be Ben Andrews."

It was Mr. Andrews, Washington correspondent of the New York Herald Tribune and winner of many awards for his accurate reporting, who disclosed a few days ago that among the documents stolen from highly confidential files in the "Amerasia" case were some which told of the location of American naval vessels, including submarines, during the war.

The story created a sensation here but, against it, the public had been given by Senator Tydings a statement to the effect that most of the documents in the "Amerasia" case were 99 per cent "casual and void." Also the man in charge of the criminal division in the Department of Justice issued a formal denial that any such papers or messages as Mr. Andrews had described were contained in the files obtained in the raids on the offices of "Amerasia," a magazine on Far Eastern affairs, some of whose personnel were indicted and some of whom pleaded guilty to unlawful possession of government documents.

Just why is the Truman administration, which controls Senator Tydings and the Department of Justice, suppressing facts in which the public is entitled? The so-called "declaration of conscience," which some Republican senators have just signed, might be a good thing for the members of the Democratic administration and various Democrats in Congress also to sign.

Such a declaration might have included a demand that the information about disloyalty and theft of documents be revealed.

The disfigurement of the Democrats is due to their own clumsiness and blundering. They fear now that any disclosures will hurt the administration politically. So the suppression squad tries by various maneuvers to keep the truth from the public.

Heeding the "left wing" demand for secret sessions, the Tydings committee heard Louis Budenz in secret, and now it has heard the F.B.I. officials in secret. On the public is entitled to all this testimony as on a judge for itself. The committee chairman knows whatever he likes and interprets testimony as he pleases. Certainly there is an amazing discrepancy between what is in the hands of the committee as disclosed by Mr. Andrews and the effort of Senator Tydings to evaluate the data as "casual and routine."

The Democrats in the Senate are more responsible for the way that Senator McCarthy is making in the country than is the Wisconsin senator himself. They goaded him originally into naming names. They barred him from cross-examining witnesses. They ordered secret sessions and kept from the public important testimony. They issued statements in contempt in an unbecoming manner the testimony given, and now they expect the country to forget the charges of Communist infiltration inside the government.

Any really wise politician would have insisted on full publicity, letting the chips fall where they may. He would have insisted that Senator McCarthy, or any other Senator doing the refusing, should prove his case in open sessions of the committee. The whole episode would have been disposed of long ago if the administration leaders had not been so sensitive politically—now they have hurt themselves far more politically and the public thinks there is something very smelly about the whole affair.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Clare Boothe Luce recently spoke in honor of the Empress Eleanor. Never conspicuous for guile, I was shocked by this pitiful bid of a waning personality for one more draught of publicity. Her remarks were a mealy contrast to her previous discussion of Eleanor the Great in my presence and a reproach to the corrosive methods of her husband, Chinaboy Henry Luce. The most contemptuous commentary on the empress that I have ever heard of was a stock story, Clare's in which she mocked the Gals' fatuous imposition on the political scene of those within sound of her voice to relate exhaustively that the butler sold a pair of Franklin's old shoes to the cash clerk man only to discover that my husband pronounced with that "soled" not "sold."

The occasion of this act of moral prostration was the bestowal on the graceless old profiteer in her country's passion of a bauble called the gold medal of the Williamsburg settlement. I never heard of it nor did either but Clare nevertheless remarked that "no award is more prized in this great city." This is one of a hundred or so petty political orders which are recurring pretexts for pheasant on toast, hushnet peas, ice cream, sweet nibbles and coffee, and for rejoicing in the banquet office of the Waldorf and other rustic inns on the caravan trail to Moscow. The Gals must have a thousand of them by now, all conferred by "committees" and "boards" of letterhead entities with axes to grind for the benefit of pressure groups.

Among women, Clare said by contrast to her position of office, "Mrs. Roosevelt is the best loved woman in the world. She is glad to meet anyone on the common ground of charity and anyone who wants to stand on that high ground is always honored to meet there the first lady of the world."

I would have to agree after this spectacle that Clare indeed is honored by such a meeting, but that is no flattering compliment to either. "Who," she continued, "can in so short a time as ten minutes enumerate the many other reasons why Mrs. Roosevelt is so admired by the people?"

This assumption of authority to speak for the sex is a little gaudy even for Clare. There is equal reason to say that millions of American women would be at loss for one reason to admire the subject, not in ten minutes but 1,000 years.

"There are," she said, "some people who still refuse to admire Mrs. Roosevelt for any reason whatsoever. These are, for the most part, unhappy folk who have no higher concept of liberty than the right it gives them to heap personal insults on public characters with impunity. Such people often try to justify their malice by attributing to the characters whose public acts they dare not attack, the basest of private motives."

Mrs. Luce might have had in mind her spouse, the master sneerer of his time, but surely a guilty conscience must plague a girl willing to take in plunder on the profits of the vice she has affected to abhor. Many a critic of the devious manipulations of public hatred by Chinaboy Luce has burned the wick down searching for terms to measure his character and fallen far short of Clare's inspired tribute to her mate. These are, for the most part, unhappy folk who have no higher concept of liberty than the right it gives them to heap personal insults on public characters with impunity. She ought to know.

She asked a little more forbearance than she had a right to when she added that "honesty, if not charity, counsels all of us to refrain from judging the rest of us harshly." On the contrary, when I take her blandly condescending tone to silence about historic frauds they serve wicked ends and know.

Vets Should Make Official Request For P.O.W. Claims

Complete information regarding veteran's claims for benefits through the War Claims Commission was announced today by F. William Sheehan, contact representative in charge of the local Veterans Administration office, 286 Fair street.

The information is in regards to veterans who are entitled to monetary benefits awarded them by Congress as former prisoners of war. Such veterans are requested to contact their local V.A. office.

Sheehan warned eligible veterans not to make informal claims for benefits dug them through the War Claims Commission.

The local contact officer made the following announcement today in regards to correct measures of submitting claims:

The commission has informed the V.A. that any prisoner of war claim which is not filed upon an official application of the commission (or authorized V.A. representative) is considered an informal claim and that no adjudicative action has been taken or will be taken upon any informal claim.

Sheehan added that no preferred action has been taken or will be taken on a formal claim which has been preceded by an informal claim.

It also was pointed out that the type of discharge or reason of separation from service has no bearing on eligibility for payments by the War Claims Commission.

Veterans who may be barred from V.A. benefits because of discharge other than honorable should not be denied their privilege of making application to the War Claims Commission, Sheehan said.

Jury Terms Extended

New York, June 2 (AP)—Terms of two New York county (Manhattan) grand juries, have been extended—a 60-day holdover for the panel which returned a 80-count indictment against bigshot hoodlum Frank Jackson and a 30-day extension for the jury probing other aspects of gambling. The extensions were ordered yesterday by General Sessions Judge Owen W. Bohan after a plea by Assistant District Attorney Alfred J. Scott. Scott told the court, "The people are conducting investigations of importance and it is imperative that the terms be extended." Technically, the terms of both grand juries expired Wednesday night.

Probing Bomber Crash

Quincy, Ill., June 2 (AP)—Navy investigators sought today to determine the cause of a patrol bomber crash which cost the lives of nine men. The long-range twin-engine ship was transformed into a flaming death trap as it burst apart in an emergency landing yesterday at this naval air base. The plane developed engine trouble 23 minutes after taking off on the last leg of a flight from Jacksonville, Fla., to Argentina, Newfound-land. The pilot and co-pilot were pulled from the plane by an alerted rescue crew. The other nine men were burned to death in their seats as the plane fell. They kept the rescue crew at a distance.

Nurses Club News

A visit to the Hercules Powder Company to observe the work of an industrial nurse was the culmination of a successful year for the Future Nurses Club of the Myron J. Michael School. The club is sponsored jointly by the school and the Kingston Hospital as a vocational orientation program in the field of nursing.

At the Hercules plant Miss Jennie Lucchesi showed the students the offices and clinic. They were impressed by the many duties the nurse has in trying to keep the workers well and on the job. Mr. Mustaparta of the Personnel Department showed the girls a film strip which emphasized the nurse's part in caring for minor injuries.

The trip to Hercules concluded a series of programs in which speakers told the girls about different fields of nursing. Miss Kathleen Schiede talked to the club about public health nursing. She showed them what a public health nurse carried in her bag. Miss Isabelle Herdman emphasized the need for some business training in addition to nursing to be a good office nurse.

Miss Waverly Watson, former army nurse, told them of opportunities as an army nurse, and Mrs. Margaret LeFever as navy nurse. Others who spoke to the club were Miss Esther Benn on school nurse, Miss Barbara Clark, general staff nurse; Mrs. Doris Serbiner, head nurse and maternity nursing; and Miss June Greening, student nurse in the operating room.

To prepare for these speakers, each member of the club began her year's work by preparing a booklet on the particular branch of nursing. She chose one which she thought she might like to enter later. All members of the were taken on a guided tour of the Kingston Hospital. Two members had the privilege each week of sitting in on the Nursing Arts class for first year students. The next, these two reported to the rest of the club on what they saw and learned, and two others visited the class. Some visited the laboratory in biology.

Members of the club attended the sapping ceremony of the freshman class and the pageant on the history of nursing.

At about mid-year the club presented a play, "The Doctor's Daughter," in assembly. At the time Miss Evelyn Morse, instructor at Kingston Hospital, presented the club with a Florence Nightingale lamp on behalf of the board of managers of the Kingston Hospital.

The sponsors of the Future Nurses have been Miss Morse of the hospital school of nursing and Miss Ione Kinkade, teacher at M.J.M.

Pay Scales Fight
Albany, N. Y., June 2 (AP)—The Court of Appeals says the New York City Board of Education has authority to set different pay scales for elementary, junior high and high school principals. The state's highest tribunal, in two unanimous decisions yesterday, upheld lower courts in dismissing petitions by one elementary and five junior high school principals who sought to force a uniform salary schedule. There was no opinion. The principals contended that the state's 1947 single standard minimum salary law for teachers applied to principals. The city argued that it did not cover principals.

Remember the Shut-In

Some think they have troubles, but they can gain what they think of the unfortunate shut-in. Let's form a new kind of drive to cheer the shut-in, make them feel alive. We have no cars, we all must try to find time to visit, make time pass by. For these shut-ins, days are so long. Let's make them feel they do belong. It's very simple, just a word of cheer, with a visit to them, you'll be glad. They yearn for just a little attention. Which at this time I must mention. In homes, hospitals, institutions, they are found. To your kindness they'll be bound. Help the shut-in and you'll understand how grateful they are you'll feel grand.

So, kind friends, let's make this day National Shut-In Time so that we may help these friends who need encouragement. You'll be bringing them contentment.

BABSON on BUSINESS

Babson Park, Mass., June 2—Can anyone tell me, why, in the name of common sense, our government bought and stored away 114,000,000 pounds of butter last year at a cost to you and me of better than $78,000,000?

The Farmer's Cry

The cry has gone up from farmers across the land that people's eating habits are changing. They say folks aren't eating as much butter as they used to. Obviously not—they can't afford to! But why not? Because the economic medicine men in Washington have pushed the price so high that substitutes have to be bought. The family physician may tell you that vitamin-reinforced margarine is just as nutritious as butter, but abolish your phoney controls on price and you will see which spread the people really prefer! They prefer good creamery butter.

Last year, for example, we spread only 1½ billion pounds of butter as against 2½ billion pounds pre-war. But still the farmers cry in their churning over the sharp increase in margarine sales—from 300 million pounds pre-war to nearly 1,000 million pounds last year. Yet they let the department of agriculture continue turning their churns! If the boys in the Agriculture Department keep on, they will churn butter producers right out of business. And I say this as a boy brought up on a dairy farm who has both milked cows and delivered milk.

We Want Golden Butter

But this isn't the end of the sad tale. People can't afford to pay current high prices for butter. Hence, consumption falls off. The government buys mountains of the stuff, to maintain high prices. So the dairy farmers go merrily on churning out more and more spread for no one to buy; but Uncle Sam to store away, and for you and me to pay for the privilege of not using.

What's the government going to do with all the golden butter bricks? Who knows? Recently they have been trying to give them to relief agencies, schools, and so forth. But takers are few because they haven't the kind of money it takes to pay transportation charges, especially when a good substitute answers the purpose. Anyway, who wants rancid butter? To my way of thinking, not only the butter, but the whole phoney system is rancid.

Action and Reaction

This is but one illustration of the system of false economics in vogue in this country today. You just can't tamper for long with the law of supply and demand before it will boomerang. Newton's law of action and reaction also apply here as aptly today as two hundred years ago. Outright economics (the head in the sand variety) is due for a terribly rude awakening some day.

Yet, our President is urging other spending programs like the butter program that could run up a debt of nearly $15,000,000,000 in three years. Projects requiring huge outlays of public money—when business is at near peak performance—will lead some day to economic disaster. If we must prime the pump in this fashion in good times, what can the soothsayers possibly have in store for us in hard times? The awful consequences of this kind of reckless spending ought to be taught by all high school teachers to their classes. The harsh object lessons of Great Britain offer excellent source material.

Unemployment Is Rising

Unemployment is currently and steadily rising. Even Leon Keyserling suggests we may have as many as 12,000,000 jobless by 1954. I wonder if Mr. Keyserling sees the connection between a mountain of butter and the mounting unemployed. As long as business is aided by an increasing tax burden to hold up prices there just isn't venture capital sufficient to create and expand business.

JACOBY
ON BRIDGEPlayer Gets Blamed
For Passing Two-Bid

By OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service
"Please tell us who was the coward on this hand," requests a Chicago reader. "We were the only pair that didn't bid three no-trump on these cards in a duplicate game the other night."

"North said he could hardly bid no-trump with three little spades and three little hearts. He also said he didn't think much of a raise of three diamonds with just two diamonds in his hand."

"South said he could not bid no-trump with just one stopper in spades and with no really good suit to run. He said he would have been delighted to bid three no-trump if North had raised the diamonds."

"We asked some of the other players how they got to three no-trump. Most of them bid two no-trump with the South hand after hearing about the clubs from north. Is two no-trump a good bid?"

"How would this hand be bid by a pair of experts?"

Almost any pair of experts would surely get to three no-trump. They might get there by one route or by another, but they would not fail to bid the game."

Some experts would open the South hand with one diamond and then bid two no-trump at the next turn. They do not consider this rebid of two no-trump as a very powerful bid in a match-point game. They use it as a sort of bid of convenience.

There is no trouble, of course, if South bids two no-trump. North is overjoyed to raise to three no-trump.

Many experts, however, would not use the rebid of two no-trump with the South hand. They use this type of bid to show a powerful hand. Instead they would bid only two diamonds.

The partner of such a player would unquestionably bid three diamonds with the North hand. After all, you can raise a rebid suit with any strong doubleton in your partner's suit. In this case, North has the strongest possible doubleton.

In other words, South's proper rebid is a matter of opinion. Some experts would bid it one way, some another way. However, there is no doubt that North was timid to pass at two diamonds. I would not go so far as to say that he was a coward, but I would suggest that he was unnecessarily cautious.

are subject to suspicion of selfish motives. She might be feared, herself. When this woman parades Eleanor before the millions as a foe of racial segregation and discrimination, she reminds knowing persons that the empress fired all the white servants and hired Negro replacements not only in that citadel of her greedy political aspirations, the White House, but long before in her private home when Roosevelt was assistant secretary of the navy. A little petty friction below stairs was too great a price for this "First Lady of the World" to pay for her principles. No protest came from her when her husband sold real estate at his Warm Springs speculation, sug-gared over with the sweet pre- tence of charity, with a clause in the deeds forbidding forever the sale of this soil to Afros.

The remark that this cynical old politician is "among women the best loved woman in the world" is a personal opinion flagrantly in-sinuating. It is none of the un-challenged charges of hatred per- version of power and greedy ex-ploitation of office. It contra-dicts old comments by Clare her-self.

This has been a strange spec-tacle, but background knowledge tends to establish a moral com-munity between the two and their spouses. Ironically, the two wom- en who in the last have done most to hearten good citizens and at the worst cast in abuse by dark and hateful forces are neighbors whom Clare has jealously ignored.

One is Vivien Kellems, a fighter who looked her in the eye and made her quit politics and ran Chinaboy down the road as well. The other is Hester McCullough, who met Paul Draper and Larry Adler on the issue of loyalty and sent them yipping. There should be medals for the likes of these.

Pitching Horseshoes

By BILLY ROSE.

Peter Pan

Every now and infrequently, as some of you may remember, I send a bottle of champagne and a pound of Romanoff caviar to the actor or actress who comes up with a per-formance which hits me where I thrill.

Well, as of immediately, an old family retainer (the retains about a quart of my Scotch a week) is tying several yards of red gros-grain around a package of fizz and fish eggs, and before moonrise tonight it will be delivered to Miss Jean Arthur whose performance as Peter Pan at the Imperial The-atre strikes me as the most titil-lating and triumphant acting job this season.

Miss Arthur, according to "Who's Who," was born—ah!—42 years ago, but for three hours last night I watched her impersonate a 12-year-old and it never once occurred to me that she was a day over 12. What's more, I was con-vinced I was just 12 and would continue being just that as long as she remained onstage.

But enough of this purple prose. Let's see if I can't shake the stars out of my eyes and one-two-three my reason for picking Jeanie, with-the-Light-Green-Tights as Miss Baskins of 1950.

To begin with, it's a fair-to-mid-dlin' miracle that the movie star got to do the play at all, even though, as I get the story, she has been wanting to appear in it for a long time and in Hollywood often posed for fan photos in a Peter Pan outfit.

A couple of years ago, at an age when most actresses begin to tear up their birth certificates and demand soft lights, Jean walked out on her movie career and enrolled in Stevens College in Missouri to study the things she's never had time for as a hard-working glam-ourous. On the faculty at Stevens, as it turned out, was a once-great lady of the theatre named Maude Adams who for many years had been the classic exponent of—you guessed it—the Peter Pan role, and though Jean tells me she never discussed the Barrie play with her, it's my hunch that both on the same campus must have put a fine edge on her long-standing appetite for the part.

Last year when ex-newspaper-man Peter Lawrence decided to revive "Peter Pan" he ran into plenty of casting trouble, and was about ready to chuck the project when he happened to come across an old movie magazine shot of Jean in a Peter Pan costume. The rest, as the squealing kids and par-ents who pack the Imperial these nights can tell you, is histrionic history.

I didn't know anything about this background story when I saw the show, but what belted me where I breathe was the amperage that crackled all over the theatre the moment La Arthur put in an appearance. When she flew in through the window—here comes that purple prose again—it was the greatest display of aeronautics since Kitty Hawk, and when she came downstage in Act Two and asked the audience to applaud if it believed in fairies, the heat gener-ated by 2,800 thumping hands darn near set the sprinkler system going. From curtain to climax, her performance was out of this adult world—a heartening as sunlight, authoritative as thunder and right as rain.

Well, now that I've shaken the exclamation points out of my pen, I'd better sign off and check on whether the package with the pretty ribbon is ready to be deliv-ered to Miss Arthur's dressing room. In case you haven't guessed, I intend to send it over by special messenger—myself.

Plans Get Underway At Fair St. Church For Homecoming Fair

Plans for the sixth annual "homecoming fair" of the Fair Street Reformed Church to be held on the church grounds on Thursday and Friday, September 7 and 8, were discussed at a meeting of the "steering committee" held Wednesday evening at the church. Mrs. Denise Borg, general chairman, announced appointment of chairmen for the various committees.

This year the theme will again be that of a circus and Edward F. Dingley, who designed and carried out the circus motif last year, will again be in charge of design. Numerous new ideas and additional booths are being planned for the 1950 fair. The annual fair marks the reopening of fall church activities following the summer vacation season. In carrying out the circus atmosphere, booths will represent circus wagons and there will again be a "merry-go-round" and other features which go to make circus day a memorable one for young and old.

On Thursday a dinner will be served in the afternoon under auspices of the Service Club and on Friday the usual cafeteria supper will be under direction of the Endeavor Guild. Throughout the day refreshments will be served at the refreshment booth on the fair grounds.

Committee chairmen announced Wednesday evening by Mrs. Borg are:

Jewelry, Mrs. Kenneth Wood and Mrs. Reynolds Carr.

Stationery, Mrs. Sylvia Relyea and Mrs. Otto Havlin.

Good Taste Today

By Emily Post

(Author of "Etiquette," "Children Are People," etc.)

TOUCHY SUBJECT

The age-old question remains: "I'm going to marry a man who is five years younger than I am. We both know this but feel it is no one else's business. I'm quite sure the difference in ages is not apparent. But if someone should ask how old he is, how can I avoid answering?"

You might explain, "He's my age" (meaning mentally). Of course, courteous people don't ask personal questions.

Wedding Gloves

Dear Mrs. Post: I will have very short sleeves in my wedding dress and would therefore like to wear long gloves. These can be had in a style without finger. Just coming down over the hand. Wouldn't these be better than wearing regular ones turned back at the wrist?

Answer: Gloves are in best taste (you merely rip part of the seam of the ring finger to allow for the wedding ring). Mitts would not be improper.

"Blind Date"

Dear Mrs. Post: My roommate's girl is bringing her friend for me to meet. My own best girl lives too far away to come. Since she's a "blind date" and helping me out, shouldn't I pay her carfare?

Answer: There is no way in which you can properly pay her fare. In other words, you may take it for granted that she expects to pay her traveling expenses the same as the other guests.

Neighborhood Gestures

Dear Mrs. Post: I received an invitation to the wedding of a neighbor's daughter; also the reception here in the neighborhood. I've never been a personal friend of this neighbor. Would I be expected to send a gift (a) if I go and (b) if I don't go?

Answer: It is unnecessary—but it certainly would be proper to send a gift, especially if you go.

Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail. Did you know that hot foods are especially popular to serve at cocktail parties? Her booklet "E-25" tells how to give a cocktail party and what to serve. To obtain a copy, send 5 cents in coin and a stamped self-addressed envelope to her care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P. O. Box 19, Station G, New York 19, N. Y. (Released by The Bell Syndicate, Inc.)

Game time is 9:15 p. m. in accordance with the usual Friday night policy.

These important news developments overshadowed cancellation by rain, of course, of the second game of the series with the Bristol Owls.

The new outfielder is Sam Placentino, a New York Yankee farmhand, who was sent here on option by the Norfolk club of the Piedmont League.

Placentino is a 6 foot, 2-inch 200 pounder who bats and throws right. He is a native of the Bronx, played for City College of New York before he was signed as bonus player by the Yankees. He is 19 years old.

Release Demeri

Other developments included: 1. The outright release of Frank Demeri, right hand pitcher, who tried a comeback. Demeri was an early season sensation in 1949, reeling off five straight wins before he was stricken by an arm injury. He never recovered his effectiveness after hurting his salary flipper.

2. Frank Navratil was certified as an established regular via purchase from the Anderson, South Carolina club of the Carolina League. Navratil who is 1-1 in two starts reported to Kingston on a 30-day look-see basis. Manager Emil Gall recommended his purchase on the basis of his showing in two starts. He is a side wheeler with good stuff.

The Colonial skipper said Placentino would work out for a couple of days before he got a chance to crash the starting lineup. With Colonial averages shrinking almost out of sight, it appears likely that Placentino will see early action if he shows the skipper anything at all.

Aspromonte at Third

Manager Gall announced a couple of lineup changes for tonight's game. Nick Peipo, who has been used primarily as a pinch hitter—and a good one—will replace Charlie Aspromonte in left field. Aspromonte will take over Gerald Murray's post at third base.

Peipo probably will bat fourth behind Chico Gerard who holds forth in the No. 3 slot. Beyond the No. 4 position the Colonials will lineup depending on whether the opposition throws a righty or lefty.

Underwood Starts

Glenn Underwood, who has been shackled by a streak of wildness, gets another starting chance tonight. Underwood was counted on as a Colonial regular in the pre-season ratings but, except for sporadic flashes of brilliance, he has yet to prove he can find the plate with regularity. Maybe this is the night.

The Colonials close out the current home stand with a Saturday engagement with the Timers. They play a doubleheader Sunday in Bridgeport and single games with the Bees on Monday and Tuesday. Then comes a two-day stay in Waterbury and a return to municipal stadium on Friday, June 9 for a game with Bridgeport.

50-Lap Feature Race At Rhinebeck Track

The Rhinebeck Speedway will feature a 50-lap championship stock race Saturday with all of the better known drivers scheduled to compete.

Speedway officials said there would be no change in admission prices.

The entry list includes every feature winner this season, a flock of high ranking drivers like Ray "Cy" Brown, Larry Sturtevant, Bob Tator, Bob Devine, Russ Truelove and Doc Carlson.

Featured winners scheduled to see action include Stan Dishow, Jocko Maggioromo, Bill Darragh, Ray Allen and Gene Cady.

FRANK NAVRATIL

The on-again, off-again status of pitcher Frank Navratil was clarified by the Colonials yesterday with the announcement that the right hander has been purchased from the Anderson, South Carolina club. Navratil, here on a 30-day look-see basis, has pitched effectively in two starts.

Gets Release

FRANK DEMERI

Early season sensation in 1949, Demeri drew his unconditional release from the Colonials yesterday. Bothered with arm trouble since late last season, the youthful right hander never made a recovery.

Paces Colonial Hitters With .355

CHICO GERARD

To the surprise of nobody, Alfonso "Chico" Gerard is pacing the Colonial hitters with a robust .355 average on the basis of latest official Colonial League batting averages.

Chico has just "run away and hid" from the rest of his mates. Next on the list comes Harvey Porter, the solid second sacker who has boosted himself into the select .300 circle. .300 to be exact.

Rudy Karson has moved into third place among the regulars with .245. Other averages are: Charlie Aspromonte .212; Nick Peipo .200; Frank Merola .197; Gerald Murray .193; Joe Sposa .191.

Patty Upsets Talbert in Paris

Paris, June 2 (AP)—Budge Patty of Los Angeles has his sights set on winning both the singles and doubles titles in the French International tennis tournament.

Patty pulled the surprise of the tournament yesterday by winning a three and a half hour semi-final singles match from the talented New York veteran, Billy Talbert, 2-6, 6-4, 4-6, 6-1, 12-10.

Although dog-tired in the late stages of the marathon battle, the Californian outlasted Talbert with a fine display of tenacity that brought him an ovation.

Patty's finals foe tomorrow will be either Jiroslav Drobný of Egypt or Eric Sturges of South Africa. Their semi-final match yesterday had to be called because of darkness with Drobný leading, 6-4, 7-5, 3-6. They were to complete the match today.

There will be an all-American women's singles final tomorrow. Doris Hart of Jacksonville, Fla., yesterday upset Louise Brough of Beverly Hills, Calif., 8-2, 6-3. Her opponent tomorrow will be Pat Todd of Los Angeles, who yesterday defeated Barbara Scofield of San Francisco, 6-2, 6-3.

Lanesville Nine Drops Two 4 to 3 Tilts to Opponents

The Lanesville A.C. club dropped a couple of recent heartbreakers—4 to 3 to the Colonial Merchants of the Kingston City Baseball League on May 28, and by the same score to Glasco on May 30.

Lanesville spotted the Merchants 4 runs, three in the third and one in the fourth, before coming to life with a belated rally for the three markers in the eighth only to have the rally fall short.

Clearwater went the distance for the Merchants and backed up his eight hit hurling with 14 strikeouts. He walked two.

C. Smith and Anderson divided the mound chores for Lanesville. Both hurlers allowed a total of eight bingles.

May 30 Game

In the Memorial Day tilt, Lanesville jumped off to a 1-0 lead in the fourth but Glasco bounced back with single markers in the second, sixth and two more in the eighth. Lanesville made it a 2-2 game with a run in the seventh.

Trailing 4-2, Lanesville made a vain try for the squeaker decision but fell short again when only one run was produced in the bottom half of the ninth.

Fordino went all the way to register the win for Glasco. E. Grant was the losing hurler. Both moundmen were nicked for 10 blows.

Fort Wayne, Ind., June 2 (AP)—Cary Middlecoff, National Open golf champion, today had a one-stroke lead in the tight-packed field going into the second round of the $15,000 Fort Wayne Open tournament.

He got out in front yesterday by knocking five strokes off the par 71 for the Orchard Ridge Country Club's 6,400 yards. Six birdsies against one hole over par put him there. He used only 12 putts on the back nine as he came home in 32 after going out in 34.

Three tournament veterans were in a position to put on the pressure today. Just a stroke off the pace were Herman Keiser of Lima, Ohio; Lloyd Mangrum of Chicago, and Ed Oliver of Kenmore, Wash.

Ship Alexander of Knoxville, Tenn., and Ted Kroll of New Hartford, N. Y., were in the 68 slot.

Leaders Unchanged In A.B.C. Tournament

Columbus, O., June 2 (AP)—The top 10 bowlers in the various divisions of the American Bowling Congress tournament held on to their places through yesterday's attacks on the alleys.

There were no changes in any divisions. However, Bob Weigand of Detroit rolled 1805 in the all-events with 590-640-575 — best score for that division for the day.

Jerry O'Grady of Indianapolis had 1466 in the singles on games of 209-226-211, also singles high for the day.

Top score in the doubles was 1222 rolled by Bill Biggs (629) and Webby Haynes (593) of Lancaster, O.

Goldstein's of Plymouth, Mich., rolled the best team score of the day on the first squad, marking up 2772.

SPRING LAKE ROLLER RINK

LUCAS AVENUE EXTENSION TONY MARRELLI, Mgr.

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Old Cardinals never die. Take Marty Marion for instance.

For 11 major league years, Mr. Shortstop went quietly about his business. Never did he hit a home run with the bases loaded. Never, until last night.

Marty waited until they really needed one. With Brooklyn in town and the Cardinals scrambling to wipe out the May 18 horror of blowing an 8-0 lead, Marion hit his grand slam home. The resulting 5-2 victory hoisted St. Louis into a first place tie with the Dodgers.

And this was the same Marion whose condition worried Manager Eddie Dyer all spring. Worried him so much that he talked owner Fred Saigh into signing Eddie Miller as fill-in, just in case.

Miller opened the season, played all but a few innings of the first 14 games. Eddie was doing fine but the Cards bumped along in fifth place at a .500 clip.

After the nerve-shattering episode of May 18 at Brooklyn, the Cardinals were left for dead. Back they came, with Marion playing almost every day, to win 10 of 12. Now they have caught the Dodgers.

Two Players Hurt

Howie Pollet, another Cardinal of 1941-42 vintage, backed up Marion's clout with a five-hit pitching job. It was Howard's first 1950 complete game. A club he used to whip regularly.

The sixth straight Cardinal victory may have been expensive. Two regulars, catcher Joe Garagiola and third baseman Tommy Glaviano were forced to leave the game because of injuries. Garagiola suffered a shoulder separation when he tumbled at first base. Glaviano injured an ankle at third.

Attracted by the drama of a Dodger-Cardinal meeting, a crowd of 32,180, largest of the St. Louis season turned out for the series opener.

The Philadelphia Phils and Boston Braves suffered on the hands of the Dodgers and Cards with afternoon victories. The Phils racked up Chicago, 8-4, moving to within a half game of the leaders.

Curt Simmons, with his customary aid from reliever Jim Konstanty, grabbed his seventh win at the expense of Frank Miller, routed in a five-run second inning.

Gordon's Grand Slams

Sid Gordon's grand slam homer, his second of the year, started Boston on its way to a 14-2 rout of Pittsburgh. It was the Pirates' ninth straight loss, their longest losing streak in 11 years.

Cincinnati and New York split a twilight-night doubleheader with the Red Sox taking the second game, 5-2, behind Ewell Blackwell. A four-run rally in the ninth inning gave the Giants the opener, 8-7.

Rain washed out the Detroit at Philadelphia and Cleveland at Boston night games in the American, giving New York a chance to pick up gyppus in the first division clinch they did.

Yankees Rally

Coming from behind to tie in the ninth, the Yankees finally whipped Chicago's revamped White Sox, 6-5, in 10 innings. Hank Bauer scored from first base on a loop single by Gerry Coleman and an error by outfielder Dave Philley. Joe Page who followed Allie Reynolds and Bob Forterfield to the mound, picked up his tenth win by working only the ninth inning.

Three successive singles enabled the St. Louis Browns to nip Washington, 5-4, in 12 innings. The Senators, somewhat provoked when Bob Kuzava and Cass Michaels failed to show up after their recent trade apologized to the fans.

Singles by Don Lenhardt, Hank Art and Billy Sommers broke up the game.

Morris Fans 16 In Ashokan Win

Dick Morris struck out 16 batters and permitted only four hits to pitch the Ashokan Indians to an easy 11-3 victory over Sawkill on the Ashokan diamond.

Seven Ashokan players got two hits each as the Indians raked Hulsair and Schley for 15 safeties, including a pair of home runs by Bill Jackson and one by George Flannery. The latter also pitched one in the Indians' 2-1 loss to Cantonment on Memorial Day.

George Hulsair's two home runs accounted for all of the Sawkill tallies.

The Indians meet the Colonial Merchants of the City Baseball League Sunday at Ashokan.

Busy Slate Ahead For K.H.S. Baseball

Kingston High School will play four baseball games next week in an effort to break the schedule jam created by postponements.

The busy schedule opens Monday at Newburgh in a DUSO contest. Beacon High is here on Tuesday and the Maroons travel to Saugerties on Wednesday.

Middletown High is scheduled in Kingston next Friday.

The track squad, newly crowned DUSO League champions, compete in the Section 9 meet Saturday at West Point.

The annual Grammar School track meet will be held at municipal stadium on Monday at 1:30 p. m.

Two Managers Plan Meeting

City Baseball League managers plan an important meeting after this evening's contest between Colonial Merchants and Wiltwyck Motors.

Discussion of the serious backlog of postponed games will be the principal order of business. The league suffered another kayo by the weatherman yesterday when rain washed out the Morgan Restaurant-Boulevard Golf contest.

The managers are expected to propose Saturday evening and Sunday afternoon dates when not in conflict with the Kingston Colonial schedule as a solution for the schedule dilemma.

Dedicate Memorial At Phoenicia Rites

The dedication of the new World War 2 monument at the Town of Shandaken Memorial Hall featured the Memorial Day celebration Tuesday at Phoenicia.

Lyons of the Phoenicia Methodist Church who gave the invocation; John Mochie, superintendent of the Onteora School District, who gave a patriotic address.

Following the address, Mrs. Louis Zallenbeck of Woodland and Mrs. Scholl of Woodstock Gold Star Mothers, unveiled the new World War 2 monument.

Taxis Scarc in London
London, June 2 (AP)—Taxis were scarce in London today as 4,000 hack drivers went on strike to enforce demands for a bigger slice of the fares. About 2,300 cabs operated by owner-drivers were not affected by the strike but virtually all union members refused to work. Taxi fares went up one-third yesterday and the drivers said they had less business and smaller tips. London cabbies receive no salaries and in the past have retained one-third of the fares plus tips. They are striking to get a 40 per cent slice of the fares as compensation.

B'nai B'rith Forms Same Subjects, Says Hyatt, but Other Teaching Method

A new Boy Scout troop, sponsored by the local B'nai B'rith Lodge, was invested at a candle-light ceremony at the lodge clubhouse Wednesday night.

The troop, to be known as Troop 5, has 17 members under the leadership of Robert Ornstein, scoutmaster, and David Badian, assistant scoutmaster. Members of the troop committee are David Mendel, chairman, Leonard Miller and Edward Netburn.

Parents, committee members and friends witnessed the ceremonies Wednesday night, during which Myron D. Keefe, scout executive, presented the charter to the committee and troop staff, pointing out that each leader and committeeman is a former Boy Scout. The scoutmaster, Ornstein, is an Eagle Scout, highest rank awarded in scouting.

Richard K. Keefe, president of B'nai B'rith, delivered a short address to the new scouts.

Rabbi Herbert I. Bloom gave the invocation and the benediction was pronounced by Rabbi H. Z. Rappaport.

First official appearance of the new troop was at the Memorial Day parade, at which time Troop No. 5 was the only troop to appear 100 per cent in uniform, according to Keefe.
